

ROMP: Researchers' Open Mic Presentations Graduates In Nanotechnology (GIN)

October 31st 2018, 11:00AM – 12:00 PM

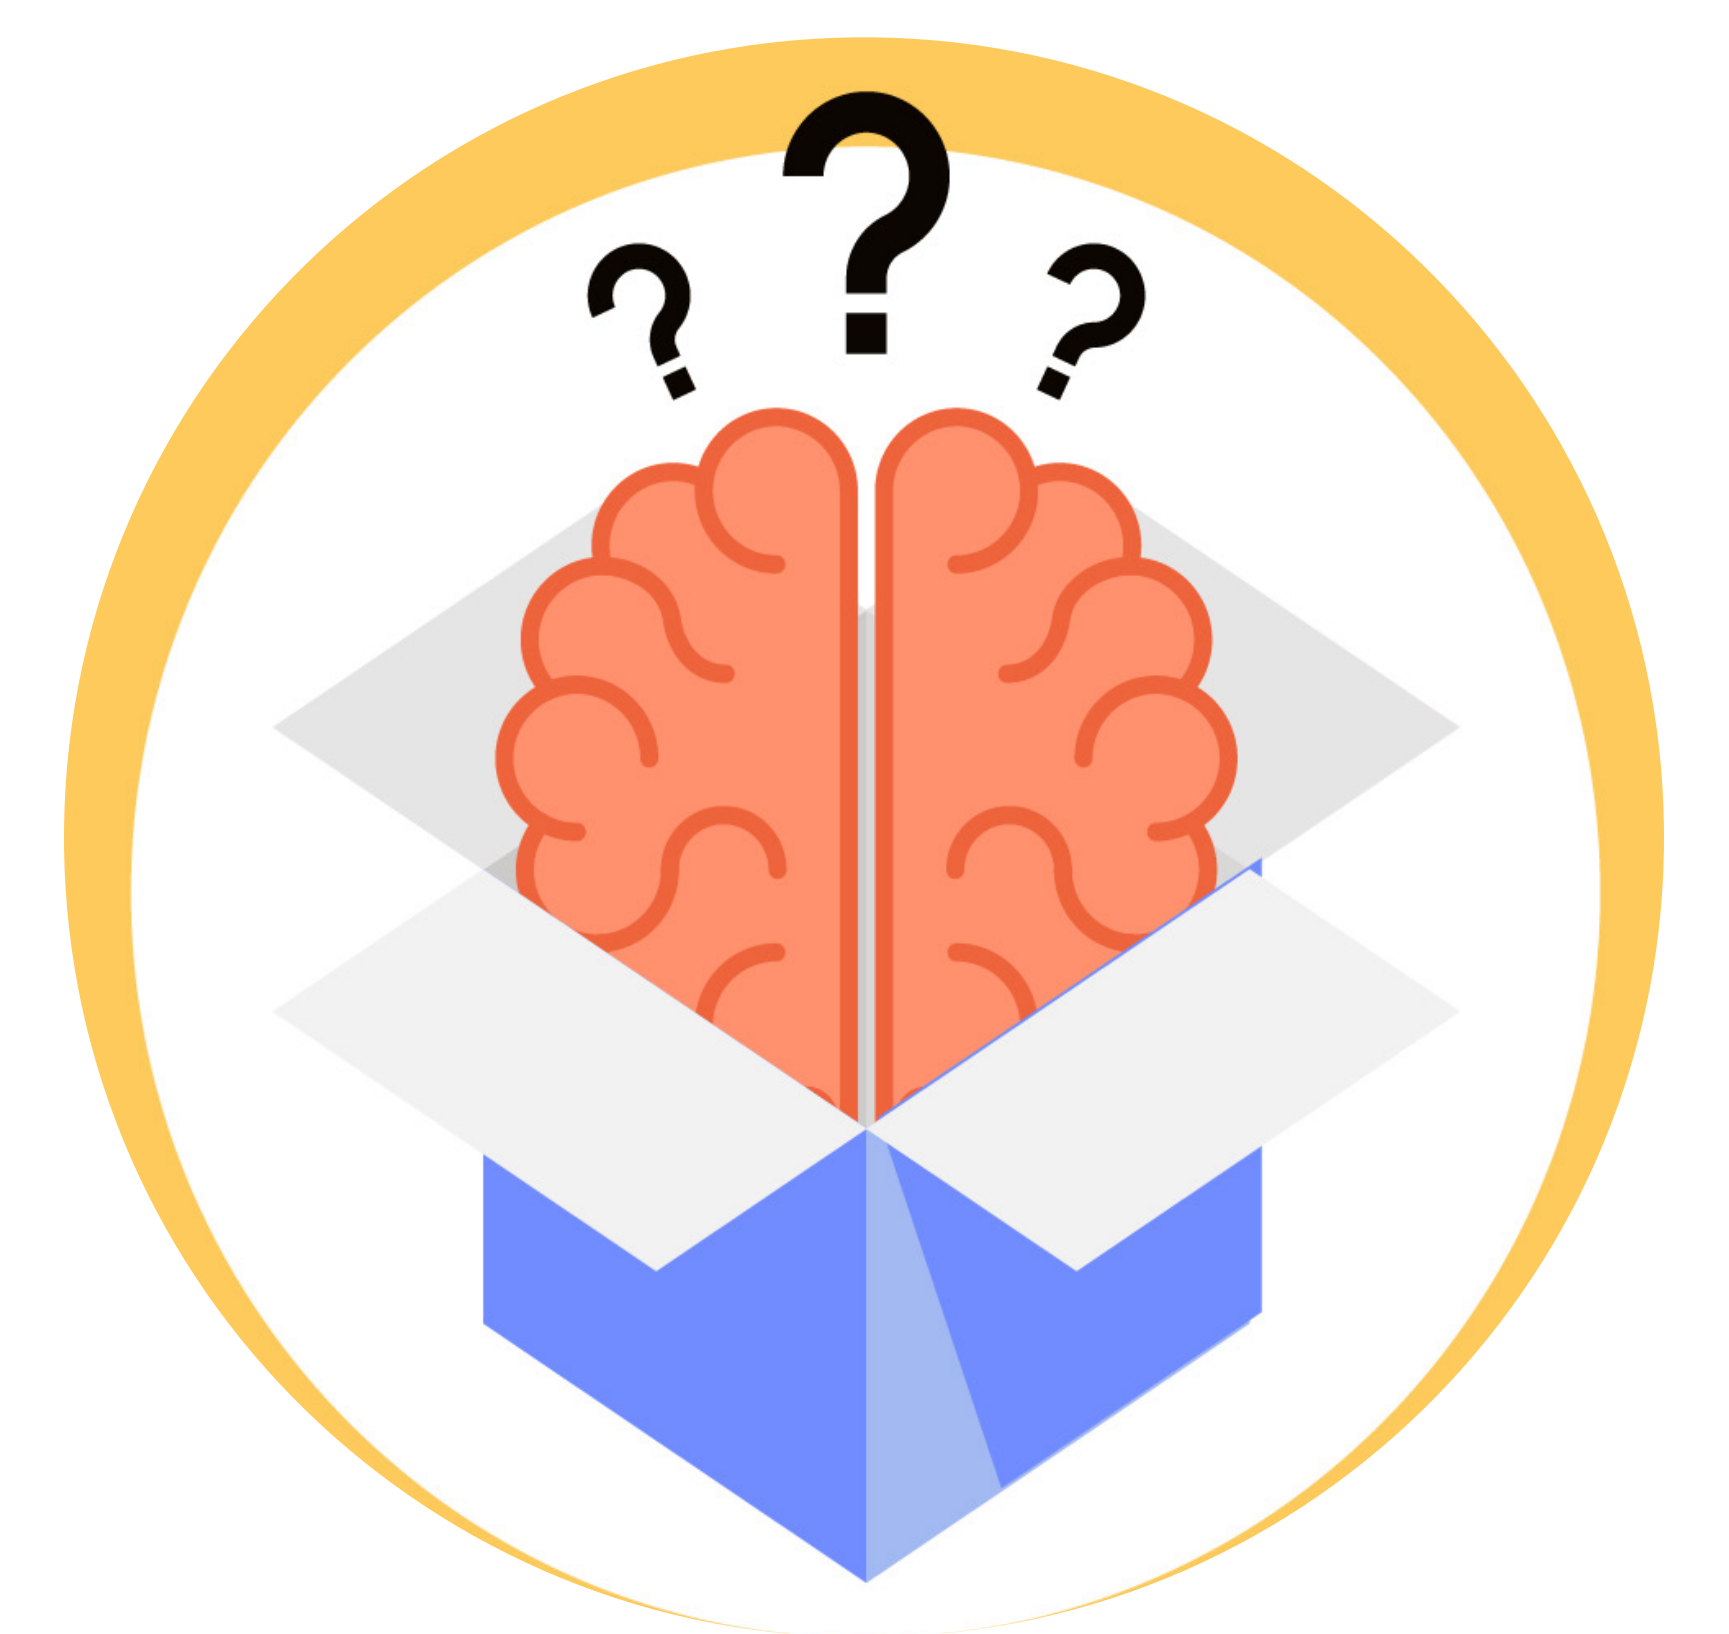

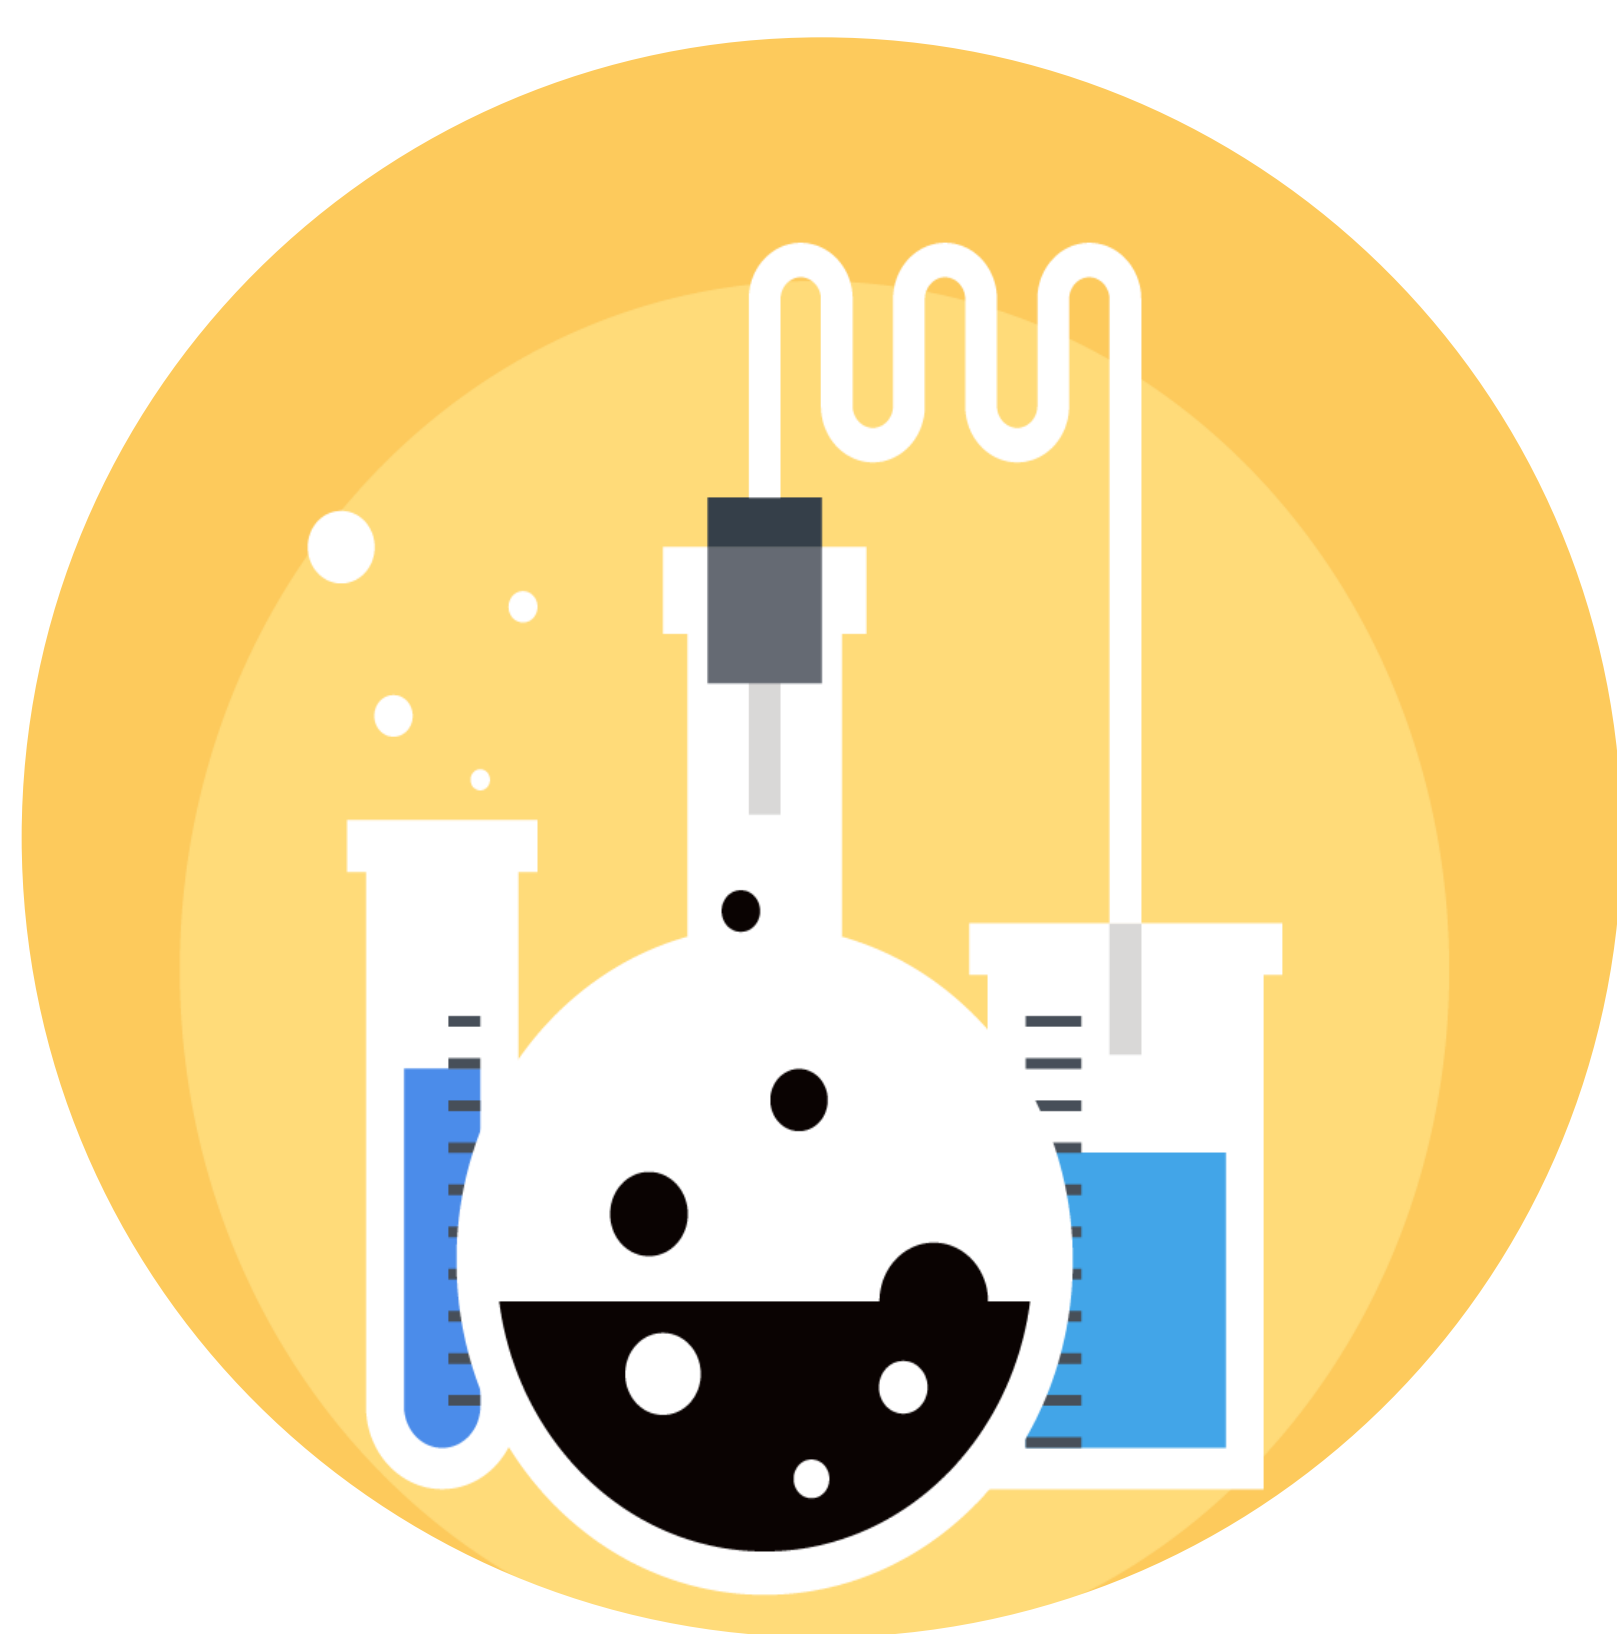

The Engineered Biosystems Building | Children's Healthcare of Atlanta Seminar Room 1005
950 Atlantic Drive | Atlanta GA | 30332

Are you doing research in nanotechnology?

Could a colleague from another discipline help you with a research conundrum?

Join the GIN Club for the Researcher's Open Mic Presentations (ROMP)!

ROMP is an opportunity for students to briefly introduce their nanotechnology research and bring up any problems they are having. Presenters have the chance to discuss their work with a multidisciplinary co-hort from the local GT community, as well as researchers from the Joint School of Nanoscience and Nanoengineering in Greensboro, joining via video conference.

GIN will support the nanotechnology community at Tech through student driven activities.

Anyone involved in nanotechnology research at Georgia Tech is welcome, undergraduates through post-doctorial.

Refreshments and Snacks will be Provided

Interested in presenting? Email Quinn Spadola at quinn.spadola@ien.gatech.edu

